

Tailor-made identity.
For the young and smart.

Wearing a uniform pride.

The school uniform - it plays many roles, quietly, confidently, emphatically. It's not just a school's identity or its outlook, but also the personification of pride and character of the student wearing it. The uniform speaks a lot about a school. Like, it reflects the thinking, the attitude and the values it portrays and would like to seek embedded in its students. The school uniform is also the interface between the child and the institution he or she belongs to.

The Creek Planet School (TCPS) and SEEDS (the Junior Wing of The Creek) together with ACAD Needs - bring a whole new design to the uniform of the group's schools. The variations of the uniform are a result of practical thinking and thoughtfulness - right from the design stage, up to fabric selection and eventual crafting. That's because, we not only would like our children to look elegant, neat and formal - but would like them to portray a sense of pride and formal persona. Here's to a glimpse of what the children of our school will be dressed in, from now on.

A fresh look in Uniforms for the academic year 2016-17

An initiative of

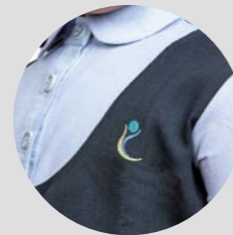

Tunic

Nursery to II Grade: Girls

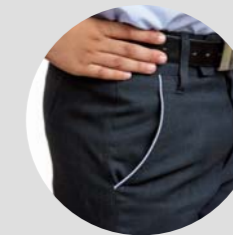

Designed to give the little girls a neat and smart-formal look, the dark green tunic is complemented nicely with a self-striped blue shirt. With a gentle puff on the shoulder, this well-fitting tunic offers comfort and smart style that lasts all day.

Shirt & Shorts

Nursery to IV Grade: Boys

This neatly-cut and crafted uniform of a blue shirt and dark-green pair of shorts for boys creates a sense of pride and gives the little gentlemen a prim look. With contrast-colour pipings on the shirt and the shorts, the look is more complete.

Shirt & Skirt

III to X Grade: Girls

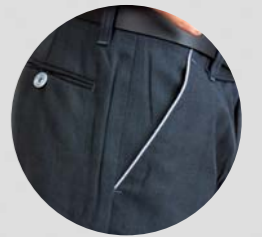

A dark-green self-striped shirt is complemented by a dark-green frill-skirt to give the young ladies of the school, a classy, striking and graceful look. The skirt gets a dash of difference with the three-stripes. The look is only enhanced with contrast-colour pipings on the shirt.

Trousers & Shirt

V to X Grade: Boys

Young gentlemen carry themselves in this pair of neatly-crafted uniform of a blue shirt and a dark-green pair of trousers. The pair adds to the attitude of self-worth young gentlemen tend to develop as they arrive in this phase of growing up. The contrast-colour pipings on the shirt and trousers put a dash of style in the entire ensemble.

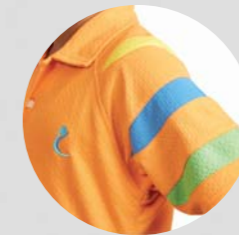

House Uniform

I to X Grade:
Boys and Girls
(Orange, Yellow, Sky Blue and Green)

With the school being segregated into four Houses, each group has a distinct identity. While differentiation is key, enough care has been taken to ensure that every House's colours are vibrant and stand out on their own - even when seen standalone.

So each group has its own solid colour, and to subtly imbibe the aspect of unity - the colours of other three groups are set in the form of stripes on the shoulders of a given group's House T-shirt. This oneness is complete with track pants that are of same design and pattern all across.

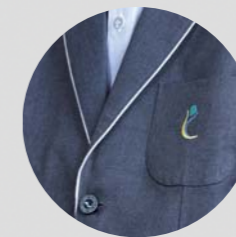

Blazer

V to X Grade: Boys and Girls

The blazer, to be worn during special occasions, is a symbol of sophistication, formality and an air of classiness. Both, the young gentleman and the young ladies, have a specially crafted blazer to suit their body types. The contrasting piping along the deftly-crafted lapel gives the blazer a dash of style and the metal button with The Creek insignia, completes the formal look.

Hooded Jacket

Nursery to X Grade:
Boys and Girls

The warm-material Hooded Jacket helps in keeping up the decorum with a uniform look even across harsh winters. It has an attached hood that helps cover head and ears from cold winds. On an other note, the Hooded Jacket well complements the colours of the uniform.

Tie, Belt, Socks & Shoes

Nursery to X Grade:
Boys and Girls

While the primary objectives of the look and outlook is served by the uniform, it is well-enhanced by the accentuated yet simple accessories of the tie, belt, socks and shoes.
