FROM THE DESK OF THE SCHOOL HEAD

The greatest gifts you can give your children are the roots of responsibility and the wings of independence. - Denis Waitley.

The essence of responsibility should be inculcated since the teenage years, as it is the best time to learn good habits and principles. We cannot hope to build a better world without inculcating the value of responsibility amongst individuals. Each one of us must work for our own improvement and at the same time share a greater responsibility towards humanity.

Each one has their own aspirations in life and one must be responsible and accountable for their own actions in all areas. The ability to perform tasks competently and the character to be accountable for one's own actions are imperative to one's self esteem and growth. This is crucial as it plays a large role in self-improvement. Hence without responsibility, one cannot expect to be placed in a position of leadership; as such placement involves increased responsibility. One cannot expect to be relied upon in the future by his/her colleagues, superiors, or subordinates.

What is the driven force that makes your child come school with a happy face always?

It is the Teachers and their mentoring which is the reason for my child to always go to school with a happy face.

Is your child excited to share her day at school?

Yes, She is very much excited to share her day at school by telling us how the class is monitored by her, and she responds to teachers and her peer group. Apart from this the incidents that happen during lunch and break times.

As a parent, please share the overall development you witnessed in your child these days?

We are happy with our child's development, whether it comes to studies or cultural or communication skills. We sometimes get surprised about the way she speaks English at home. Good improvement.

Will you recommend our school to others?

Obviously. We are happy to recommend the school to others.

RESPONSIBILITY

Being independent, accountable, and prompt in all circumstances is what is meant by responsibility. Every action we perform is under our own and exclusive control. Two of Responsibility's best traits are taking responsibility and growing as a leader. It produces a charge holding sensation and an enchanted mental environment. It's not always necessary to force someone to do what you command or to charge them with negligence in order to be responsible. Real-world communication, comprehension, and assessment skills, as well as how you approach problem-solving, are considerably more crucial. Just keep in mind one thing: if you're having problems learning to be responsible, start with the little things. Once people embrace responsibility, it comes naturally to them; if we form this habit early on, we will become responsible adults. So, Start Taking Responsibility!

FROM THE DESK OF THE SCHOOL HEAD

Teachers have three loves: love of learning, love of learners, and the love of bringing the first two loves together.” ---Scott Hayden.

Teachers and students share a unique bond, which is hard to describe in mere words. The importance of a teacher in a child's life is certainly irreplaceable. The bond between a teacher and a student is infused with equal doses of discipline and goes beyond the classroom and textbooks. Bonding is not rocket science; it's the joy of having an open communication channel in an emotionally safe environment called school. Students feel encouraged and motivated to participate and perform in all the activities; it gives them a sense of belonging. The classroom becomes a congenial environment when students recognise their teacher as an accomplice and not a force of opposition. They listen more and are open to learning. Building strong bonds and understanding students can help them develop academically and socially. It's a key to letting them know they are valued members of the learning community in the classroom and school.

Is your child enjoys coming to the school everyday?

When the atmosphere encourages learning, the learning is inevitable. Ever since school has started, we have been witnessing change in our child. He goes to the school every day with great enthusiasm. The methods of teaching and learning adopted by the teachers are good, and they ensure that the students understand the lessons properly through various activities.

What kind of values are inculcated in your child after joining Creek Neptune?

I can see a change in my child's attitude. He has become very responsible for his work. The activities conducted by the school are unique, engaging and creative . The teachers are very approachable and help the students to develop various skills. We see a totally involved faculty and a well-nurtured school with a goal of making these kids leaders.

3D LABS: FIELD TRIP

We visited a 3D printing facility named 3D labs India, located in Secunderabad. Different models and design requests are 3D printed. In the various facility uses, they had a variety of printers. A CAD model is converted into an actual model through the process of 3D printing. There are three ways to do it, and various materials can be used, with PLA (poly lactic acid) serving as the most common one. Prototyping is the primary usage of 3D printing, but it is also employed in a variety of other fields, including aerospace, engineering, medicine, architecture, and arts. We gained knowledge about the applications of 3D printing. We learned about several technologies used in the facility. Overall, it was a wonderful experience.

Instead of using the traditional chalk and board method, I created a student-led activity where I encouraged them to choose any object of their choice and describe it. Students spoke about familiar objects like a pencil, book, bag, etc. I made a note of all the descriptive terms they used as they described them and introduce the concept. All the students in the classroom are engaged in the activity and mastered the concept taught.

THE KALEIDOSCOPE- A place to showcase flair and bliss

On Saturday, July 16 at 10:30 am, our school's auditorium, Kaleidoscope, was formally opened in the presence of our chairman, Sri Bollineni Seenaiah, Vice chairman, Sri T Panduranga Chary, Vice president, Pottluri Srinivas Rao, and our Founder & Managing Director Sri Narendra Prasad Edpuganti. Our complete staff participated in the ribbon-cutting ceremony and lamp-lighting to officially begin the event. For the entire TCPS-Orbit family, it was a moment of pride and happiness. The event commenced by a welcoming dance, following by the premiere of our video song “Dream On” and a catchy thank-you song. The auditorium was beautifully embellished with wall paintings and wall hangings which were aesthetically made by the team of art teachers. Watching the theatre was a visual treat. With the aid of cutting-edge technology, this auditorium has room for around 200 people. It was created to provide both students and teachers with several learning and celebratory opportunities.

Huge channels should be made beneath the concrete roads to collect and take the water to a tank.

FROM THE DESK OF THE SCHOOL HEAD

In addition to providing a picture of the future, a vision inspires people to work to make it come true. A leader's efforts to develop a shared vision have been described as "bonding" by educationist Sergiovanni (1990). This paper keeps the above facts in front. It suggests following critical factors of a shared vision that one of the goals in Schools is to develop and sustain a robust and identifiable culture of outstanding educational leadership, exemplary teaching and excellence in student learning. One can define this culture as — the beliefs, knowledge, skills and attributes relative to high-performance educational leadership, teaching and learning that are consistently, expertly and creatively put into practice by the entire staff of a school, close to respective roles, thereby creating opportunities for each student to achieve optimal learning. This paper suggests a shared vision for a school that incorporates the following cultural attributes for high performance. A strong sense of individual and collective staff efficacy and responsibility concerning students learning. Commitment to outstanding educational leadership and exemplary teaching. and excellence in learning: Commitment to interdependent relationships whereby all members of the school continually learn with and from each other: A safe, caring, inclusive, orderly, and respectful school environment openly conveys hope. Dimity and purpose: A vibrant student activities program that provides opportunities for participants to explore and advance their skills and interests beyond the classroom. Meaningful involvement of all the school's stakeholders: in the school's operation.

IMPORTANCE OF PHYSICAL ACTIVITIES IN OUR DAILY LIFE

Physical activity or exercise can improve your health and reduce the risk of developing diseases like type 2 diabetes, cancer and cardiovascular disease. Physical activity and exercise can have immediate and long-term health benefits. Most importantly, regular activity can also improve your quality of life. A minimum of 30 minutes of physical activity can allow you to enjoy these benefits.

- ☞ Reduce your risk of a heart attack
- ☞ Manage your weight better
- ☞ Have a lower blood cholesterol level
- ☞ Have stronger bones, muscles and joints and lower risk of developing osteoporosis
- ☞ Feel better – with more energy, a better mood, more relaxed and better sleep.
- ☞ A healthier state of mind
- ☞ Many studies have found that exercise reduce depression. There are many views as to how exercise helps people with depression:
- ☞ Exercise may block negative thoughts or distract you from daily worries.
- ☞ Exercising with others provides an opportunity for increased social contact.
- ☞ Increased fitness may lift up your mood and improve your sleep patterns.
- ☞ Exercise may also change levels of chemicals in your brains, such as serotonin, endorphins and stress hormones.

Aim for at least 30 minutes a day: To maintain health and reduce your risk of health problems, health professionals and researchers recommend a minimum of 30 minutes of moderate-intensity physical activity on most, preferably all, everyday.

RESPONSIBILITY

Someone who possesses responsibility is someone who is concerned, attentive, and careful about their actions and responsibilities. People who are responsible complete their tasks on schedule and accept any potential repercussions. People must develop this quality; it is not something that they are born with. A student's life is important in terms of responsibility. It depends on how they perceive it. Some people have it easy, while others frequently struggle. Being responsible will help one better manage their time and develop their skills. Being responsible will benefit a student throughout their career. I want to sum up with four obligations of being a good citizen and student: loyal to the nation sensitivity to tradition and culture promote harmony and peace keep the area tidy.

FROM THE DESK OF THE SCHOOL HEAD

If a child learns to be responsible right from the student life, then he or she has paved a golden path for the future. It is the stage to shape one's character and moral duties. At school, various tasks are assigned to the students where they learn to become responsible. Students will be more successful with their learning by being responsible, participating, and having a positive attitude. Responsibilities:

- Attending classes regularly.
 - Being prepared for classes with all necessary supplies.
 - Taking good care of school property.
 - Completing all homework assignments.
 - Organizing their time well.
 - Respecting themselves and others.
 - Reading on a regular basis.
 - Doing their best.
- Participation:
- Participating in classroom activities.
 - Contributing to discussions and group activities.

- Asking questions when they don't understand.
 - Participating in school activities and having fun.
 - Participating in community and recreation programs.
- Attitude:
- Understanding parents' values, expectations and culture.
 - Maintaining good physical health, exercising, eating right, and getting enough sleep.
 - Listening carefully to teachers and parents.
 - Developing positive attitudes; being cooperative and considerate.
 - Welcoming challenges.
 - Helping others.

Let your child make decisions on what to read, what to wear, where to go on the weekends for family fun, etc. from an early age. - Your youngster will develop independence while simultaneously participating in family decision-making. Take part in games like passing the ball, skipping, or badminton. These enjoyable physical activities teach your child about collaboration. You may increase your child's self-confidence by encouraging them to compete or work as a team. Grow a plant alongside your kid. Your child will find growing anything on their own to be an exciting experience. Your youngster will learn responsibility and discipline when they take care of plants as a result. No matter their age or how busy you are, make time for your child since spending quality time together is essential to creating a solid and happy parent-child bond. To express your love and admiration for your family members, you should make an ongoing effort to make time for your children. You'll learn through this procedure that becoming a parent is a rewarding and fun adventure.

Voice of a Student

"Responsibility finds a way. Irresponsibility makes excuses". Accepting what is required and completing the work to the best of our abilities are both examples of responsibility. It is performing tasks honourably. Being accountable brings the satisfaction of having done one's part. Every action we take to be accountable and successful contributes to improving our self-esteem and the quality of our relationships with friends and family. The July theme at our school was "Responsibility." Being responsible is crucial for students because they must obey all of the faculty and staff. We should be kind and helpful to others as students. We must maintain punctuality and routinely attend lessons. All school projects and the allocated work must be turned in on time. Students must develop and internalise the virtue of responsibility. I was elected as a Deputy Sports Captain where I am performing my duties with great dedication and responsibility in order to make the school students more responsible. The schools had a campaign to elect the Prefect's and were given the Roles and Responsibilities which are taken with the utmost care.

FROM THE DESK OF THE CENTER HEAD

I am overjoyed that all of our seedlings were able to quickly switch back to offline procedures and systems. Students soon adapted to attending class on a regular basis and to following set routines. Children's personalities can be greatly influenced by early exposure to the proper attitudes and behaviours. One such essential quality that can help a youngster succeed in the future is responsibility. Soar high, even if the sky is not a limit! It is not the strength of the wings, but the desire to be up there that makes the flight possible. There is no dearth of opportunities for those who are responsible and want to make a difference. We only need to grab the right one and work towards it.

Being responsible is one great factor that is very important in deciding the growth trajectory of children. When children are taught to be responsible, they take ownership of their learning, which, in the long term, helps them in decision-making and better judgment. As a responsible parent or teacher, we must do our bit to ensure that our children learn more, absorb more, develop morals, develop self-esteem and, no matter what happens, don't give up on their principles.

How do you feel about academics and school curriculum?

The school's Nature Nurture curriculum includes many engaging activities. Children are enthusiastically attending school and displaying enthusiasm in completing the assigned homework and worksheets. They started to recognise numbers and letters in pictures, enjoying playing with clay, colouring, speaking loudly and clearly, and participating in assemblies. Overall, I am grateful to the school's principal, teachers, and support staff. Many thanks.

What are the changes you have seen in your child after coming to school?

We are very pleased with my child and have noticed numerous changes. Eating habits have improved; taking responsibility for each other at home, greeting everyone with a smile, following hygiene steps like washing hands and using sanitizer have improved.

IMPORTANCE OF ART EDUCATION

Through the creation and presentation of their own artistic expressions, art education is one of the most effective ways to empower students to reflect on, act on, and give voice to their opinions, beliefs, and ideas. Through the arts, one learns to observe, interpret, see different perspectives, analyze, and synthesize.

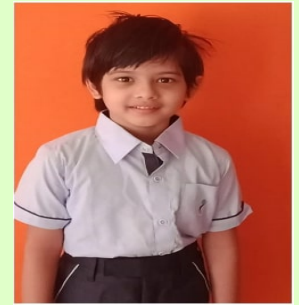

Ms. Nagalakshmi Bandi,
Art Mentor

The presence of art in all the subject areas contributes to the integral and full development of a student. This is characterized by enriching and making a great cognitive contribution to the development of the abilities and skills of students. An effective arts education provides opportunities to develop confidence in their own creative abilities. Teachers have to integrate art into their respective subject areas and make the teaching and learning process interesting, thereby creating active classrooms.

PATRIOTISM

Patriotism refers to the passionate love one has for the country. In other words, patriotism means keeping the country's interests first and then thinking about oneself. We refer to our country as our motherland. This further proves that we must have the same love for our country as we have for our mother. After all, our country is no less than a mother; it nurtures us and helps us grow. When the citizens have the spirit of brotherhood, they will support one another. Hence, it will make the country more harmonious. It is patriotism that unites Indians, belonging to different religions and cultures, for the overall prosperity of the nation. I am a proud "Patriot".

RESOURCE PARENTING- DOCTORS TALK

On the occasion of Doctors' Day, we were fortunate to have Dr. Sowjanya, who is our resource parent and a dentist by profession, to interact with children. She shared valuable tips on being healthy, fit and maintaining oral hygiene. Dr. Sowjanya also demonstrated the right way to brush teeth, which our children thoroughly enjoyed. It was a lively and interesting session. Center Head, Smt. Vani Lanka, felicitated Dr. Sowjanya and the children expressed their gratitude by presenting handmade thank you cards. We, the staff and students of SEEDS MARS, thank Dr. Sowjanya for sparing her busy time and sharing beneficial information.

FROM THE DESK OF THE CENTER HEAD

We all want to raise responsible children. And we all want to live in a world where others have been raised to be responsible, a world where adults don't shrug off their responsibilities as citizens. The bottom line is that kids will be responsible to the degree that we support them to be. Here are a few everyday strategies guaranteed to increase your kids' "response-ability" quotient.

1. Teach your child that we must always clean up after ourselves.
2. Kids need an opportunity to contribute to the common good.
3. Always let children try to follow the rule "do it myself" even when it's more work for you.
4. Establish routines and structure
5. Don't rush to bail your child out of a difficult situation.
- 6: Set a good example of responsibility and accountability.
7. Never label your child as "irresponsible."
8. Instruct your child on how to create a written schedule.
9. All kids need the experience of working for pay.
10. Establish a No-Blame Household.

How do you rate your child's academic progress from Day 1 to the present?

Your support to make the kid learn and mingle with his peers is appreciated, and we are happy with the academic progress of our child. He improved his writing and communication skills.

How well does the school administration respond to your concerns?

We receive on-time responses when contacted via phone or diary. Concerns are addressed immediately. I really appreciate the efforts of the supporting staff too, as my child comes and says ayamma is very good and she takes care of him. Overall, I'm pleased with everything.

DEVELOPING PATRIOTISM IN LEARNERS

Learners today are acquiring a wide variety of knowledge. Additionally, we ought to impart to children love and respect for our nation. We can impart patriotism to a certain extent by relating tales about our national leaders to them and having them participate more frequently in school activities that are designed to inculcate patriotism in children.

- ☞ Invite the kids to discuss their views on patriotism.
- ☞ The elderly must address patriotism on a kid-friendly level.
- ☞ Teaching them by being a role model ourselves by keeping everything around us organized and clean.
- ☞ Show them motion pictures about world leaders.

SAVE TREES

Trees are essential for a healthy and happy life on Earth. They also provide us cool shelter, medicines and many more. We should plant more trees and save them by watering and not cutting them. Trees take nothing from us but gives us many things. Oxygen is the basic need which we get from trees. So let's all take a pledge to save plants and plant more plants. We should stop cutting trees in the forest and maintain an ecofriendly environment One, Two, Three.....lets plant trees... A plant a day keeps diseases away. Amazing Academic Achievement

Reflections of Grade X Teachers

Time and again students of Mercury Campus have proved themselves by achieving top ranks and centum in languages and core subjects in the AISSE board exams. They have been setting benchmarks in every exam, year after year. It is the legacy of the school management to ensure that hard work and perseverance of the students and teachers go hand in hand and this creates the entire magic. Our hearts are filled with pride. My blessings to all the students always and thanks to the parents for their belief in us.

- Ms. P. HIMAJYOTHSNA, Principal - TCPS (Mercury)

My heart is filled with ecstasy, to bear the fruit of success and the differentiated individual instructions given along with the hardwork put forth both by me and my students throughout the extended hours has made us see this. I am happy to be part of such a supportive management.

- Ms. Prabhavathi, Mentor

The tireless efforts of students, guidance of teachers and the support of Management as well as parents has helped the students to excel in their examination. Their commendable performance is highly appreciable. I am privileged to be a part of team Mercury.

- Ms. Rekha Sharma, Mentor

Initially the children had difficulty in comprehending Social Sciences concepts and to correlate with present scenarios. Strong determination and dedication along with intense practice has helped them score a centum in Social Science. I was able to put my heart and soul into enabling the children to give their best. Thanks to the management for the timely support
